Storage/Data Transfer Conclusions

We see a program of work in defining functional layers in data registration, discovery, subscription, and transfer, and specifying interface protocols between them.